

Happy Holidays from C. Eule Dance!

2024 was a relatively quiet year for C. Eule Dance performances since I was busy teaching dance to children and adults as well as volunteering as a choreographer for performances at West Hollywood Elementary School and Emerson Charter School. We did have one very interesting performance in September for the "Ladies of Courage" Festival at the West Hollywood Park where we collaborated with visual artists Audri Phillips and Ken Scott who created stunning projections that illuminated our dancers as they performed our newest work "Quiet Night." The video can be viewed here: ceuledance.org/qnvideo

For 2025, I am working on ideas for a new duet, and I look forward to bringing more work to the stages in the Los Angeles area.

If you would like to support our mission, including bringing high quality dance into the Los Angeles public schools and beyond, tax-deductible donations can be made: ceuledance.org/dance/contact.

We wish you all the best for a happy and healthy 2025!
